Investors Bank Grants Support to Non-Profit Servicing Tri-County Area
*Samost Jewish Family & Children's Service Receive $2,500

ROBBINSVILLE, New Jersey – People in Camden, Burlington, and Gloucester Counties, from cradle to rocking chair, can continue to rely on social services from the Samost Jewish Family & Children's Service (JFCS) of Southern New Jersey, thanks in part to a $2,500 grant from the Investors Foundation.

"Investors Bank has become like part of our JFCS family," said Marla Meyers, JFCS Executive Director. "We are so grateful for Investors Bank's support. They give not just financially, but have become friends to our organization."

JFCS, headquartered in Cherry Hill, has been providing comprehensive, caring social services strengthening South Jersey residents of all ages, faiths, and economic backgrounds for more than 70 years. Licensed professionals assist the community's most vulnerable members with a wide range of issues including separation and divorce, bereavement, depression, anxiety, and chronic mental illness. JFCS also provides comprehensive programming for individuals with special needs, so that they can achieve their highest potential and lead more independent and fulfilled lives. Additionally, the agency offers programming for seniors, including numerous in-home services to help the aging population enjoy their golden years gracefully and independently at home.

Marylynn Harkinson, Investors Bank Assistant Vice President and Cherry Hill Branch Manager, said, "Jewish Family & Children's Services do so much – they offer a food pantry, counseling, senior services, and so much more for our entire community."

JFCS applied for the grant from the Investors Bank, which supports non-profit organizations that enrich the diverse communities served by Investors Bank. The funds will be used for general support of the organization.

"No one is ever turned away due to financial hardship at the Jewish Family & Children's Services," said Hector Melendez, Investors Bank Assistant Vice President and Voorhees Branch Manager. "That's just one of the reasons Investors Bank is so proud to support them."

"Investors Bank has supported JFCS for several years, because we believe in the work they are doing," said Carmine Pannullo, Investors Bank Senior Market Manager.
